

Formed in 2003, Mobimus Ltd. is the developer of "howzee.info", the Internet based service which enables faster and more efficient communication between property managers, tenants, landlords and other stakeholders.

With over 90 satisfied Property Management Companies and over 100,000 users, howzee.info is unquestionably one of the leading communication service providers in the housing sector in Europe.

The key benefits for Property Management Companies using Howzee Message are:

Digital tenant communication has established its role as an important interaction method between Property Managers and tenants. Property Managers have to respond to the increasing demand for online and up to date information from tenants. Howzee Message is an answer to that particular need. Property Managers will have the most effective tools to service tenants on an individual level and deliver the required information proactively. Email notifications will notify tenants that the new information is being delivered to the service channel. In addition, howzee.info can be branded as your own web site. Let howzee.info work for you!
